November 5	 microscope	MICROSCOPE – a GMless game of exploring a timeline, seeding it with huge sweeping events, creating amazing twists of fate, and exploring the reasons why they happen. Sketch out an epoch or zoom into an individual scene in time to look inside the heads of the people responsible. THIS WEEK: ELECTION. Every Microscope game needs a seed, so here's an idea to explore: time focuses around an election. Galactic senate or one-horse town in the Old West? Well, that's up to us.
November 12		DUNGEON WORLD – a fantasy RPG from Sage Kobold Productions, based on Vincent Baker's Apocalypse World. A simple 2d6 game using variant levels of success and substantial player choice in outcomes. Usually in bad outcomes. An engine devoted to quick resolution and snowballing plot developments. THIS WEEK: LADY WHITE'S RUINS. The ruins of a forward guard post are the only indication anyone ever built into this ancient mountain. But whose halls were these? Whose ruins are they now? And why are you there, anyway? This is Dungeon World, so you tell me and we'll go from there.
November 19	 OUR LAST BEST HOPE	OUR LAST BEST HOPE – a disaster-movie game from Magpie Games. Characters with their own personal dramas and wants band together to confront a disaster. But it's never as easy as making it to the crisis. An opposed D6 pool game focused on improv and personal drama. THIS WEEK: OUR LAST BEST DANGER PATROL. Danger Patrol! Twisted creations of science and strange beasts from beyond the stars are converging on Rocket City! This is a disaster! Please respond!
November 26		Enjoy your Thanksgiving weekend! See you in December!
